LOCAL NOTES.

Silver is quoted at 65.

Dr. Gaff, Benson—Physician and surgeon.

Fresh Fish is received every Thursday at Noble's.

Frank Yapple who has been at Cripple Creek, Colorado, for several months, returned home today.

Last night was very cold and the first frost of the season was visible on the house tops this morning.

H. C. Herrick was up from his ranch on the river today. Mr. Herrick is one of the staunch republicans of this county.

Dr. J. W. Farrington, the Bisbee Dentist, will be in Tombstone until Sunday. Office at Mrs. Bastian's, Toughnut street.

We beg the indulgence of our advertising patrons whose ads have been set out for a day or two on account of the great amount of campaign matter we are compelled to run.

Nothing further has developed at the sheriff's office as to the whereabouts of the Soper robbers. A lookout is kept and should they again come back to Cochise county more trouble is anticipated.

The Republicans held a rally at Benson tonight and tomorrow the candidates are expected here. The Republican rally in Tombstone is billed for Saturday and Monday at Bisbee.

Mark Smith and Frank Cox left this morning for Nogales where they are billed to appear tonight. On Saturday Mark will speak in Bisbee and it is probable the closing speech of the campaign will be made at the copper camp.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Our Delegate and the County Candidates Speak.

Schieffelin Hall was well attended last night to see the Democratic rally and listen to Our Mark, Frank Cox and the county candidates.

The stage was tastefully decorated and the arrangement of flowers and decorations bespoke of artistic taste and execution for which the free silver ladies in Tombstone deserve credit. The banner of "Our Mark" in large letters of evergreen caught each one's eye and evoked more enthusiasm for Cochise favorite son which manifested itself in unimpeachable terms throughout his able and eloquent speech.

Allen B. English acted as chairman and with a few appropriate remarks introduced Mr. Frank Cox. Mr. Cox made a brilliant speech extolling with free coinage facts and unanswerable arguments. He is a ready orator whose flow of eloquence is not interrupted for want of adjectives and whose rapid delivery captured his audience. He refuted some of the charges brought against Mark Smith and read some of his speeches in congress on the subject, extracts of which have been published in the PROSPECTOR at various times. He made an excellent impression and was warmly applauded.

Mark A. Smith, Democratic candidate for delegate to congress, then stepped forward, which was the signal for a deafening round of applause. He spoke feelingly of his old home and associates and his speech was punctuated throughout with applause. He made an urgent and sincere appeal for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the present ratio without waiting for the advice or consent of any other nation on earth. He demonstrated the necessity of free coinage by the United States, and among other things said in substance that "the only way to get free coinage was for congress to pass a free silver bill, that the battle now being waged was fraught with more momentous consequences to the republic than the war of the revolution."

When Mr. John Sherman was secretary of the treasury he decided to resume specie payments, so that the greenbacks and other outstanding obligations of the government should be equal to the coin money of the nation. He, in order to meet any demand that might be made on the treasury, set aside one hundred million dollars in gold besides the silver on hand, to redeem these paper obligations. The greenbacks became at once equal to coin. Congress passed thereafter a law prohibiting the redemption of the greenbacks and directed that when received at the treasury they should be remitted. There was then no longer any use for the reserve except to aid the conspirators who were attempting to demonetize silver. He then proceeded to show how from that time the diabolical work was accomplished. The repeal of the Sherman act was the culmination of the purpose.

The gold reserve was diminished by the redemption, or exchange of gold for greenbacks, Sherman notes and all paper money, except silver certificates. Bonds had to be issued to protect this unnecessary gold reserve or the conspiracy would be ineffectual. Bonds were issued by the million in a time of profound peace—the people were submitted to an additional burden of taxation so that the money sharks might lend without fear of loss their idle capital to the United States. Money that should have been invested in enterprises helpful to the country was utterly withdrawn from circulation. Money went up; everything else went down, and every product of human labor and every day's work of a man became less and less valuable as compared with the money left in circulation.

He showed further by unanswerable arguments the benefits to be derived from an increase in our circulation. That an international agreement would follow independent action by the United States. That the Orient, and all free silver countries on which England's commerce lived would immediately begin to trade with us. To furnish the supplies demanded by this increased trade would start to active energy every lumbering enterprise in America and give employment to every idle man who is willing to work, and thus take from labor the press of hungry people for its place.

He deplored the threatened division of the silver vote in Arizona. In every other territory and nearly every state that sentiment had found united support of all free silver people. In Arizona alone, which above all places should be faithful to the cause of Bryan and silver, could any division be found. This division was caused by the personal ambition of a man who by populists themselves had been declared, in public print, as the nominee of no party whatever. The cause of silver and the prosperity of Arizona depended on the people's support of the new Declaration of Independence as set forth in the Chicago platform. A vote for O'Neil he declared to be a vote for Doran and the gold standard and urged the people, not for himself but for the great cause, to support the principles and the candidates standing with Bryan on the Chicago platform. Division weakened the cause. There was no need of it. What right had any man of his own motion to inject his personality into a fight like this, where only harm could result to the cause which he pretended to support.

Mr. Smith exonerated himself from every charge contained in what he designated the cowardly open letter which O'Neil had circulated in counties through which Mr. Smith's campaign had already been made.

Several of the county candidates on the stage were introduced the first being Mr. M. J. Brown the candidate for recorder. He made a neat talk of 15 minutes duration gracefully asking the suffrage of the voters. In his misfortune of being disabled he was ineffectual for other than office or clerical work and submitted his claims for consideration.

S. A. D. Upton next mounted the political stage bridge. Nothing further from significance could be the three first initials of his name when spelled into a word for Mr. Upton is a jolly genial, merry making fellow who has the happy faculty of making all about him goodnatured. He is pleasing of address and was at his best last night. He recounted his ambitions, aspirations and air castles which he fondly harbored for, these many years. He never ran for office before but now that he did he was in for it good and hard. He made a bid for the influence of the marriageable ladies and widows by blushing asserting he might get married and closing in an humorous strain the talented editor retired amid applause.

Scott White addressed a few remarks in a gentlemanly manner and pledged his fidelity to duty should the voters return him to the office of sheriff. He was wildly applauded.

Getting late the meeting adjourned by giving three cheers and a tiger for the national, territorial and county ticket which was done with a vengeance seemingly everyone joining to swell the deafening cheer.

THE SEPAR GANG AGAIN.

Black Jack and a Companion Hold up the Town.

The Star has the following regarding the Soper robbery:

"Two masked men, one of whom was recognized as 'Black Jack,' of the famous Soper gang, robbed the operator and the pumpman, marched them over to the hotel, received all the available cash about the hotel, added the inmates of the establishment to the procession and marched to the neighboring merchandise store, where about 8 armed cowboys were leitering. 'Black Jack' and his companion disarmed the cowboys, relieved them of their loose change and then turned their attention to the keeper of the store, who was the only one of the crowd who had the nerve to resist. He received an ugly scalp wound from a bandit's gun, and was lined up with the operator, pumpman, hotel keeper and cowboys.

"The bandits, after securing about $80 in money, a lot of whisky and merchandise, paraded what proved to be nearly the entire population of Soper two miles from the depot, mounted their horses which were stationed there, gave the crowd a farewell drink of whisky and departed. The crowd was just returning to the city as the evening train pulled in at the depot.

Schieffelin Hall was beautifully decorated last night with evergreens and red and white and yellow chrysanthemums; a large picture of Washington hung on the front wall of the stage to the right of the speakers and a likeness of Jefferson decorated the left wall, while that of William J. Bryan, the people's champion of today, set off the back ground to the stage, all three were handsomely draped in bunting while the speakers table was covered with a profusion of lovely flowers.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
